Goodbyes and Welcomes

by Ken Copley

Sadly we have had to say our goodbyes to Becky Masters. None of us who knew her even briefly will soon forget her. Becky suddenly passed away this summer. She held the contract for the Snack Bar for the Fall 1998 and Spring 1999 semesters. She and her crew kept us all from hunger while we were on campus last year. So now we bid her a sad farewell and a hearty thank you. We all will miss her and offer our condolences to all her friends and family.

Now we are pleased to make the announcement that Jim Winger and his crew have taken over the running of the Snack Bar. Jim wanted to do this out of his respect for Becky. He and his sister Patti, along with Jerod, Joyce, Dana and volunteer Peg will be serving up the best cuisine on campus this year.

The Snack Bar is featuring Celebrity Chefs this fall. First is Barb Reagle, September 13.

Venango VOICE

September 20, 1999 Volume 26, Issue 3

CLARION UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

The Venango VOICE deadline for submissions is Wednesday's at noon in the VOICE mailbox in Frame office.

Venango VOICE is published periodically by Venango Campus, 1801 West First St. Oil City. Articles in it reflect the philosophy of Venango Campus students, and not necessarily the views of Clarion University of PA.

Clarion University is committed to equal opportunity and affirmative action for all persons in its educational programs, activities and employment. Direct equal opportunity inquiries to the Assistant to the president for Social equity, 216 Carrier administration building.

University Child Development Center

The University Child Development Center Director, Tina, says this is not just a day care center; it is so much more than that. Their emphasis is on education, and development, not merely baby sitting or day care.

The University Child development center on the first floor of Montgomery Hall currently has two rooms, one called the Ladybug room and the other is called the Sugar Plum room. The children go on field trips, and also take nature walks. Construction begins soon on an out door play ground for the little ones. The children's days are filled with education and development, but it is all fun for the kids.

This month includes chef combo week, currently focusing on "A" for Apples, the kids are learning to make applesauce. In addition they are playing an "A" for Apple game. Director Tina along with Christine, Ally, and Alice, and two work-study students Pat and Sara. The first week of school went smoothly, in a few minutes the children looked around and found a room filled with fun and games, and soon forgot about Mom, and Dad.

Tea Time at Rhoades Hall

As I came into Rhoades last Tuesday, I was greeted by smiling faces and an inquiry about having tea. My first thought was, am I in England?

But no, I was still here in America. When the waitress named Lisa, with the smiling face, brought out my tea, she also brought with her many fancy pastries and sandwiches.

There was a broad assortment of Teas as well;the menu listed everything from Cinnamon Stick to Orange pekoe. There was Irish Breakfast, Earl Grey, Darjeeling, and something called Constant Comment. But the one that intrigued me the most was the cup of Green Tea sitting in front of Dr. Huber.

But, alas,I must apologize to Kim Price, as some of the sandwiches on the menu just weren't my cup of tea!

E. Q.'s Skill # 2... Team Work

Skill # 2 emphasizes team-work, which is being promoted Sept 20, through October 9th.

- ⇒ Be able to give your own opinions and ideas-don't be afraid or intimidated.
- ⇒ Accept constructive feed back—typically the individual is only trying to help you become more effective in a specific area.

CALLING ALL MAJORS!!!!

Are you looking for a way to raise your IQ, meet new friends,and have fun all at the same time? If you're tired of just filling a seat and want to be part of a club that will make use of your talents, then Psychology Club is for you.

We are seeking new faces from ALL majors with fresh ideas. We have big plans this year, but your input is always valuable.

Some of the upcoming events you will see are interesting speakers, including a helpful lecture on the APA writing style to be given by our own Dr. Carie Forden in late September. (Watch for the signs in Rhoades). We will be doing fund raisers and hopefully attending a convention, among other things still in the works. Keep reading the Venango VOICE for more details later.

In Psychology Club, your skills and ideas will be put to to good use. Come to a meeting and see what we are all about. We meet Thursdays at 1:45 in the second floor lobby in Montgomery Hall. It is still not too late to join. We look forward to seeing you there!

IN MEMORIAM, Dr. John Kuhn

I was privileged to work under John Kuhn for the last seven years and he was always an inspiration for me: old fashioned words for a person of an increasingly rare breed.
John knew you by name even if you were the newest person on the faculty. He taught by personal example: our how-to-teach seminars were important, so he took the time from his tight administrator's schedule to come and stay for part of the day.

Writing was important, so he attended the English Department receptions for the students whose work was published in Clarion Voices. He was that kind of person.

Venango Campus was important to John and even though he was busy and his health imperfect, he would often come for Honors Nights and Commencements. His wasn't a podium-only presence; he would talk and make you feel important. And he always said thanks and answered letters. Indeed the Write-Inn's two work-study positions came from him.

John's was a classical education that made you learn a foreign language, that made you care about small details as well as large. That background and his endless giving enriched the Clarion Community.

John Kuhn valued decency and tradition. The old burial service refers often to light; John brought light to everything he did. Requiescat in pace.

Perfection isn't a popular concept any more, but it should be. Perfection isn't your image; it's an ideal you strive to reach.

The trouble with perfection is that it needs to be a habit and to inform all we do. The old adage was " If it's worth doing, it's worth doing well." Statistically, we work 1.3 jobs jobs today and of necessity, some things, like dishes in the sink and dust bunnies, have to be neglected. Families understand these compromises.

School, though, is preparation for work. If we use spell check, then double check starting with the last sentence, we can produce error-free writing. Of course that means mastering those pesky homonyms like there/their, pedal/peddle, its/it's ,and so on. What's the point? One thing that makes us human is our love for learning. Keeping those distinctions is a way into the history of our language. Sages tell us that education enables us to go out and change the world, one interview, one class, one piece of writing at a time. To prevent egg on the face, practice checking and getting things right. And if you want to be practical, there's one hairdresser who just lost a 20%-tipping client because said hairdresser slept through certain classes. There's one wanna-be travel agent who networked her way to an interview but lost out because they all goofed off during typing class.

You also need a job before you can change the world

Senate Corner

At the request of the Student Senate, this corner is reserved for for any and all information that they would like to print. Be sure to check back next week and every week.

The Student Senate wants all Venango Campus students to know if they are experiencing any problems, please come to them and they will try to help. The student senators are here to help. They are currently recruiting volunteers for committees. If you are interested in volunteering some of your time, and maybe having some fun too, please talk to Kim Price in Frame 217 or to any of the Senators.

The Senate regretfully wishes to say that The Golden Eagle Cafe (formerly the Venango Campus Snack Bar) cannot legally omit tax on their sales. All restaurants have to charge tax, it is just one of the many unfortunate facts of life.

The next Senate meeting will be held October 8th in the private dining room in Rhoades Hall. The Senators wish to inform all that these meetings are open to the public and invite any one who would like, to please attend.

Y. M. C. A.

The YMCA has signed up their allotted memberships for Venango Campus Campus students. In reguards to these 30 memberships, it seems some students aren't using them. If these students aren't going to use the memberships at the YMCA, maybe they should think about letting some one who really wants the membership have one. If we don't use the "Y" memberships, The "Y" may discontinue this deal for future semesters. This is an excellant way to blow off steam and rid your self of the stress that daily life here on campus brings.

So Venango Campus Students, Use it or lose it!

MASSAGE DAY

Coming soon on October 13 is Massage Day. A massage is another way to rid your self of the stress that we all gather in our daily lives. A massage can help us be more relaxed, along with being healthier. As you listen to gentle soothing sounds, you drift off into another world while the masseuse gently but firmly helps rid your body of unhealthy toxins that we take in every day. When it is over you come out feeling more relaxed than you have felt in a long time.

Nursing Notes

by Diane Morrison

Congratulations to nursing faculty members, Carolyn Masters, and Pam Lawrence. Carolyn Received a promotion to the position of Assistant Professor. Pam Lawrence was granted a Sabbatical Leave for the Spring of 2001.

Ms. Nancy Falvo, at the Pittsburgh site of Clarion University received the award for Excellence in Nursing Education from the Mu Xi Chapter of the Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society in May 1999. Nancy's enthusiasm and dedication to the students and their success in nursing is commendable. She is the Director of Programs at the Pittsburgh site of the Clarion University. Nancy was a pioneer in the Distance Education in the State System of Higher Education (SSHE). She is used as a consultant by the Vice Chancellor's in issues related to distance education grants which have been approved and funded by the SSHE for workshops, educational and teaching strategies, equipment, etc. Nancy's class in Death and Dying which was taught in Pittsburgh and sent via the interactive classroom to Venango Campus in the early stages of her work, helped establish "ITV" and its usefulness at Clarion University by increasing accessibility of courses to a greater number of students who otherwise may not have been availed the opportunity of participation. HATS OFF!!! to Nancy Falvo.

Dr. Mary Kavoosi has been elected to the position of Chairperson of the nursing Department of Clarion University, a place of honor and responsibility among her peers.

The Master of Science in Nursing-Family Nurse Practitioner program is currently in the process of attaining NLNAC accreditation. The visitors will be on campus in October to complete the evaluation. The joint MSN-FNP program between Clarion and Slippery Rock Universities is the only one of its kind in the State System of Higher Education. Graduates of the program may practice as family nurse practitioners providing primary care in medically underserved and health manpower shortage areas. Graduates are prepared to work in physician offices, extended care facilities, ambulatory health centers and clinics providing clients with continuous, comprehensive care through physician · collaboration and referral.

ATTENTION ALL NURSING STUDENTS! MIDTERMS ARE SOON TO BE A MEMORY.

Nursing knowledge is akin to the building of mountains. It starts as a tiny mound of pebbles and sand. Gradually as the torrents of time, wind and rain (lectures, learning, and experience) pound on its surface, it becomes a compendium of stone and strength, ever expanding and changing in response to the surrounding environment. So take heart, today is only a small slice in a lifetime of education. Study long and hard. Good Luck!

Professors Walking Out??????????

Are the Professors going to be picketing? They're not certain yet, but there is a good chance that Dr. McElhatten and Dr Huber will be out walking a picket line soon. University Relations Director Ron Wilshire at Clarion's Main Campus stated that the University will remain open, and any professors that wish to remain in the classrooms will be allowed to do so. Mr. Wilshire also stated that the University will complete the semester even if they hold classes on weekends and evenings. Students living in dormitories will be able to remain, as the dorms will be open.

I for one can see the Professors' side of the story, but we students also have to be concerned about our futures. I only hope that the Professors' will keep us in mind when they are out on the picket line.

Student Senate Open Forum

The Student Senate will be holding an Open Forum With Dr. Acton. It is being held in the Rhoades Center on October 21 1999 at 12:30 P.M. This is a great opportunity for students to bring their concerns and questions to the attention of Dr. Acton.

As students you don't receive many chances like this to voice your opinions, so make the most of this event: get active, show up, and ask your questions. The Senate will also be offering a 20% discount at the snack bar to students and faculty on the day and time of the forum. The discount will start at 12:15P.M. and run though the forum.

The Student Senate would also like to invite anyone who is interested in attending our meetings to come and share your ideas. Senate meetings are held on Friday afternoon at 1:15 P.M. in the Rhoades Center private dining room. Help us help you by coming and bringing your thoughts and ideas so that we can try to improve Venango Campus.

Student Senate Secretary Sam Martz will hold office hours from 1-3 on Tuesdays. He would like to see club members from all the different clubs to get info on what they're doing.

OPEN FORUM - STRIKE ???

The Open Forum with President Sue Traynor and Tim Fogerty went off as scheduled Wednesday October 20th. Both Ms. Traynor and Mr. Fogerty reassured the students that Clarion University will remain open in the advent of a strike.

Faculty are invited to remain in the class rooms. Support personal will be at their jobs. Ms.Traynor and Mr. Fogerty both stated that in the event of a long term strike, they still can't see a scrapping of this semester. Administration intends to finish this semester and there are no plans for replacement faculty, even if we have to make up classes on evenings and weekends.

Administration realizes that a large number of students at Clarion and Venango Campus are non-traditional students. Therefore they have families to support by working weekends and evenings. Certain considerations will be taken in special cases

The have asked that all students report to classes, then if their Professor don't show for class, it is up to the student whether or not they remain in the classrooms.

Ms Traynor and Mr. Fogerty are confident students will be treated equally if it is necessary to cross the picket line.

Women's Support Group

The women's support group at Venango Campus was started several years ago when a fellow student recognized a need here at the Campus for a place where women could safely talk about anything of concern to them. College can be stressful and lonely. The support group is a place to be heard, understood and supported. It is a place to find other women with perhaps similar problems/concerns and to listen and learn how to cope. It is a place to meet new people and to make new friends.

The group meets here on campus once a week on Thursday from 2-3:30, starting October 28th, 1999. Anything discussed in the group is confidential. The group is facilitated by Kay King. Campus Counselor. Any women interested can contact Kay King ext 283.

Psychology Club

Thursday, October 28,1999, Psych club will be hosting a "Pampered Chef" party in Rhoades Lounge, "Pampered Chef" hosts an array of wonderful, high quality kitchen items designed to make your life easier. Come and join the fun! Plus we get to eat what we make.

PROFESSORS VOTE IN NOVEMBER

Professors at Clarion and 13 other state owned Universities will vote in mid November on a proposed 3 year contract.

The tentative contract was agreed upon in last minute talks by negotiators for the Union and the State System of Higher Education (SSHE)

If the union ratifies the package, the board of Governors will consider approving it in a special meeting after the union votes are counted.

New Parking Reg's

Students are now permitted to back into parking stalls. Still in effect is the rule of parking between the yellow lines on each end of parking lot. The spaces at both ends of the lot are reserved for faculty and staff. You may conceivably end up lowering your grade if you cut off your professor at a high rate of speed and pull your vehicle into the space in front of him/her. Not unlike some students I know, who shall remain nameless.

Whose Job?

This is a story about four people named Everybody, Somebody, Anybody and Nobody. There was an important job to be done and Everybody was sure that Somebody would do it. Anybody could have done it, but Nobody did it. Somebody got angry about that because it was Everybody's job. Everybody thought Anybody could do it, but Nobody realized that Everybody wouldn't do it. It ended up that Everybody blamed Somebody when Nobody did what Anybody could have done!!!!

How to Spot a Returning Adult Student on Campus

You're the only person sitting in the front row in class.
The music in the student union gives you headache.
You think you're the only student in class who doesn't know what the Professor is talking about.
You can remember when John F. Kennedy was President.
You read the obituaries before the comics.
You get nauseated watching a Freshman eating a Twinkie and a Coke for breakfast.
Your favorite shoes are older than most of your classmates.
Does any one else have a good one? submit it to the VOICE!!!!!!!!

Venango Voice?????

This Paper is for the Students of Venango Campus. It is meant to be the Voice of the students, so all who want to be heard can be heard. Any student can write a story, or an article and submit it to the editor of the VOICE.

If you want just a bulletin board we can go back to the former name of the "VOICE" "THE BULLETIN." If you don't want to be heard and have a place to voice your opinion, it may revert back to just an announcement page. Do we all want this? We have classes and schedules just like all of you do, so help us out, write it and submit it!!!!!

Submit your stories to the Venango VOICE mailbox in Frame Office, or slide it under the door in 223 MH.

Women's Support Group

The women's support group at Venango Campus was started several years ago when a fellow student recognized a need here at the Campus for a place where women could safely talk about anything of concern to them. College can be stressful and lonely. The support group is a place to be heard, understood and supported. It is a place to find other women with perhaps similar problems/concerns and to listen and learn how to cope. It is a place to meet new people and to make new friends.

The group meets here on campus once a week on Thursday from 2-3:30, starting October 28th, 1999. Anything discussed in the group is confidential. The group is facilitated by Kay King. Campus Counselor. Any women interested can contact Kay King ext. 283.

Sexual Harassment

Have you ever felt intimidated, or very uncomfortable? Did you feel like you wanted to run and hide?

It's called Sexual Harassment and it's not a nice feeling. It makes a person feel belittled and dirty; it makes others feel less of a person.

I think most will agree when I say that every one should be free of unwanted advances and unwanted touches (sexual or otherwise). No one has to put up with comments and innuendo's as well. Two students here at Venango Campus discussed this issue with me recently. I could see their discomfort very clearly. I sympathize with them wholeheartedly. No one should have to live in fear of any unwelcome advances. Not only is it a right, IT IS THE LAW!!!! No one has to put up with this!!!!!!!

Senate Corner

Dr. Reinhard will be holding an Open Forum in Rhoades Center November 11th, 1999, at 12:30PM. Everyone attending will receive 20% off at the Golden Eagle Cafe. Senate members will also be raffling off some Free Lunches at the forum.

"Venango Campus Update"
Two Snack Bar positions will be available next semester for interested students. The first is the Golden Eagle Cafe Manager position; the Second is the Accounting position in the Cafe. Clarion Business Credits are available for both positions. The manager position may also work up to 29 hours per week at work study wages. The Senate is looking for an energetic, well organized student, hopefully with experience in the food industry. This is an excellent opportunity to enhance your resume! Basically you would be managing your own business. Applications are available at Rhoades front desk, and are due November 12 in the Student Services office.

The Senate would like to assist the campus in increasing our enrollment. They have taken on the project of coordinating student volunteers to make calls to prospective students. This task can be done on YOUR OWN TIME and can be done here on campus, using the campus phones. When enrollments increase, often more resources are allocated to the Campus (like faculty, classes, etc) So, this should benefit everyone! If you are interested in donating an hour or so per week of your time, please sign up in the Student Services office.

What is your E.Q.?

OR. . .

Do you have the "right stuff" to gain future employment?

Over the last few weeks, you may have noticed several posters about E.Q. skills in your classrooms and around campus. E.Q. is your Employability Quotient, or the skills that you will want to develop to ensure your best employment opportunities. Employers in addition to the appropriate academic credentials seek these key professional and social skills.

During the first few weeks of November, the Career Center will promote E.Q. skill # 4, Written and Oral Presentation. This skill emphasizes the importance of professional communication and includes the following points:

- Use correct grammar while speaking and in your writing (He and I, NOT Him and me!).
- Use appropriate language, instead of lazy language (Yes and No, NOT Yeah and Nah)
- Project your voice; speak distinctly so others can hear and understand you. These skills are important in face to face to face and telephone conversation, and public speaking.
- Develop good writing skills with school assignments. Usually, some form of writing is required with professional jobs.

Remember: Practice makes perfect!

If you would like to obtain further information on the E. Q. program, contact Debra Johnson in the Career Center at 230 Montgomery Hall or at extension 277.

A Special Note of Thanks

How many times do all of us take time out of out busy day to complain about our professors? The test was too hard! They give us too much home work! They're unfair! I bet the numbers are pretty high.

Recently, my sister Patti and I lost a very close friend to breast cancer. We were unable to attend some of our classes. We both have Beth Jackson for different courses. Not only did Beth understand our circumstances, she emailed us and sent out a sympathy card. How many professors at main campus would have done this? Thank you Beth for your loyal to our family and your dedication to Venango Campus. You are truly a great asset to the faculty team and also a true friend to the students.

Dr. Reinhard and Dr. Acton held an informal discussion Thursday November 11th in Rhoades Center. At the discussion any student who had questions for Dr. Reinhard could sit down and talk. I expected this forum to be a very formal question and answer affair. In fact, it was very freindly and almost like a family discussion over dinner.

Dr Reinhard talked with first year student Jamie Show, in an air of familiarity as well as Student Senator President Lance Bowes

Some of the questions asked were about parking at Clarion's main campus, housing for students in Clarion and increased enrollment here at Venango Campus.

In a drawing by Dr Reinhard and Dr Acton at the Forum, Jamie Ahrens, and Adrian Cooper recieved a free meal at the Golden Eagle Cafe.

Grammar Tips

Do professors wince or cringe when you talk to them? Maybe it's not the garlic hoagie; maybe it's your grammar. Errors like "I seen, I done, I had went, and I had wrote" offend educated listeners. (It should be "I saw, I did, I had gone, and I had written.") Other ear-graters include "Him and me got it," "They gave it to he and I," and "Them is." Pains with your grammar now mean gains in your job search.

What is your E.Q.?

E.Q. is about developing the "right stuff" to gain future employment.

Hopefully, over the course of the fall semester, you have noticed the posters featuring the E.Q. skills that have been identified by employers as necessary for success in the workplace. The final skill and often the most challenging to develop is Active Learning and Thinking. This skill emphasizes the importance of critical thinking and includes the following points:

- Develop critical thinking skills.
- Learn new and relevant skills.
- Use common sense.
- Develop transferable skills (the ability to apply earned knowledge in different situations).

These skills give you the opportunity to show an employer what you really have to offer.

If you would like to obtain further information on the E. Q. program, contact Debra Johnson in the Career Center at 230 Montgomery Hall or at extension 277.

School Phobia

by Lisa Plasan

It is difficult to get the old blood flowing on a Monday (especially for us returning adults). But have you ever been afraid about going to school? Well, chances are that you have never suffered school phobia. Because most individuals suffering from school phobia rarely attend college.

School phobia is preferred to be called School Refusal by the A.P.A. (American Physiological Association). It usually affects school age children after a long break such as summer vacation. When you think about the words school refusal, one tends to imagine a screaming, spoiled child that is just expressing themselves. However, most of the time a child suffering from school refusal doesn't scream at all. They may shyly whimper on the outside. The only screaming they do is on the inside.

School refusal is often associated with problems on the home front. Perhaps it can be trigged by a death in the family, a divorce or even having a parent return to school. The phobic child becomes morbid and withdrawn. If you where to ask a phobic child why they cannot stop crying, they cannot answer you. They don't understand why they are so afraid to go to school.

As well as physical harm, school phobia can cause deep-rooted physiological problems if not addressed properly. In fact, research shows that many criminals and alcohol abusers suffered from school refusal. However, the most dangerous element of school refusal is the lack of awareness and acceptance of its existence in today's society.

Once the child has been diagnosed with school refusal the battle has just begun. With this diagnoses comes a great deal of work for the parents, family and teachers of a phobic child. A phobic child needs to become secure in their school surroundings. Therefore, a process called desensitization is initialed. It involves the parent staying in the classroom for an hour or so the first week and slowly increasing the amount of time every day. When the child has mastered staying an entire day, the parent will continue staying in the school, however not in the child's classroom.

The parent is often ridiculed and accused by other parents and staff members of spoiling the child. However, the parent is encouraged continuously by school faculty not to give up. The process of the desensitization depends on the severity of the phobic child. It could take anywhere from 4 weeks to 6 months. Although this is time consuming, it is a small price to pay for a well rounded academically happy child.

We as parents have a responsibility to our children to guarantee their health, happiness and safety. If you have a child that is having problems at school, please talk to them, but most of all listen to them. Possibly, there is more going on in their lives than you are aware. Perhaps, they are not screaming on the outside, but are screaming on the inside. Perhaps they just need an hour of your time.

Write-Inn Questionnaire Results

We are pleased with the results of the Write Inn questionnaire. The majority of the students who participated in our survey have visited the Write Inn and will do so in the future. For most of you who participated, the Write Inn hours are accessible. However, suggestions were made considering evening and weekend hours. These comments are appreciated and will be taken into consideration. Thank you to all who took the time to participate. It will help us make the Write Inn the best that it can be for all students.

What is your E.Q.?

E.Q. is about developing the "right stuff" to gain future employment.

Hopefully, over the course of the fall semester, you have noticed the posters featuring the E.Q. skills that have been identified by employers as necessary for success in the workplace. The final skill and often the most challenging to develop is Active Learning and Thinking. This skill emphasizes the importance of critical thinking and includes the following points:

- Develop critical thinking skills.
- Learn new and relevant skills.
- Use common sense.
- Develop transferable skills (the ability to apply earned knowledge in different situations).

These skills give you the opportunity to show an employer what you really have to offer.

If you would like to obtain further information on the E. Q. program, contact Debra Johnson in the Career Center at 230 Montgomery Hall or at extension 277.

Finals Week

As finals week approaches, we all feel ourselves stressing out. We get all worked up, and we tie our muscles up in knots. Before any final take a few minutes, close your eyes, breathe deep, relax, and visualize yourself somewhere calm and serene. Do you like the seashore, or perhaps a mountain stream? It can be any where you feel very calm and very relaxed. Continue to breathe deeply and then tell yourself this test isn't any different than other tests we have aced. So why worry about it? If you are worried about it, you may develop memory block.

Good luck on the finals

Thanks From Psychology Club

Psychology Club would like to thank everyone who attended our guided imagery demonstration in November. Attendance was terrific. We got a lot of positive feedback, so we will try it again maybe next semester. Congratulations to our three door prize winners, who each took home their own guided imagery tapes. Also, we'd like to again thank Rhonda Barnette from the Mind/Body Wellness Center in Meadville, for taking the time to show us how it's done! We hope everyone who attended will be able to use what they've learned to help relieve stress throughout finals.

Psychology Club would like to wish everyone "good luck" on your finals and have a safe and Happy Holidays! See you in January!!!!

E-mail Passwords

The end of the semester is nearly upon us. To make your return to Clarion next semester easier, Computing Services has put together the following list of "things to do" prior to leaving the campus for the semester break. If you perform these steps, your student CNet account will be ready for use when you return.

1. Change your password. Student passwords are valid for 180 days. If you change your password before you leave, it will still be in effect when your return. Please don't forget your new password. If you do not plan to return for the spring semester but will return within the next year, your username will remain the same but the password will be changed back to your Student Identification Number and PIN.

2. "Signoff" or "Unsubscribe" to all internet e-mail list servers. Failure to do so may cause your allotted disk space to be filled. In this case access to your account will be temporarily disabled until you call Computing Services to re-activate your account.

If you are not planning to return for the Spring semester, be aware that current plans include deleting e-mail messages during the summer of 2000. Students not returning for the Spring semester may want to save their e-mail messages by extracting to a file or printing the messages prior to leaving the campus. Also, student web pages remain on the server for one year, so if you are not returning in the Spring, you may want to delete your web pages. Once your student CNet account has been disabled, you will not be able to update, delete, or add web pages. For further information regarding these procedures, visit http://www.clarion.edu/admin/compserv/studentaccts.htm

Venango VOICE submissions for January 18 should be e-mailed to s_kjcopley@clarion.edu
